Product End of Life Information

On January 1st 2024, all Indiestor products will become End of Life (EOL), including:

- Indiestor Pro Storage Manager
- Indiestor Rack
- Indiestor Mimiq + License Server

What does this mean?

Perpetually licensed software and storage servers will continue to operate, however no further updates will be provided.

How does this affect support for my storage server?

Existing support plans will be honored until expiry. Customers continuing to use their storage appliance are advised to eventually migrate to newer hardware. As a rough guide, most storage servers have a useful service life of around 5 years.

What if I need spare parts for my server?

If you require out-of-warranty spare parts, we will help you source components from a local supplier (at your cost).

What about Indiestor Mimiq?

Hedge announced the acquisition of Indiestor Mimiq in September 2022, which marked the end of development on the Indiestor version and categorized it as a legacy product. Users are encouraged to upgrade to Hedge Mimiq, which offers various improvements and features. On 1st January 2024, Indiestor will stop reissuing MAC locked license files.
